

As far as Words of Wisdom from me, I'd like to mention something I read the first day while beginning my studies with LTS. One of the first things you all offered was the "How to Start Studying and Stay on Track," hand out. That piece of information was an excellent guide. It was something I referred to the whole time while studying. I often thought about "Promise yourself and your family a celebration after the exam!" It sort of acted as a goal for me. And, I really wanted to pass the exam so the celebration was genuine!
